

American Nurses Association in partnership with Every Child By Two (ECBT) and the Colorado Foundation for Medical Care present an innovative continuing education webcast for nurses on vaccine safety and patient communication. Combining a nurse-panel presentation with patient-nurse video vignettes, this course offers practical knowledge and skills to increase immunization competency.

Developed for the nurse in any role or specialty, this course will cover:

- Impact of vaccines on society;
- How the nursing profession is vital to the promotion of immunizations;
- Benefits of vaccination to nurses (and healthcare workers);
- Vaccine safety and adverse event reporting;
- Common questions and vaccine myths; and
- Risk Communication methods to reduce concerns and increase vaccine acceptance.

What Nurses Saying About the Webcast

“Great review of updated vaccines from the CDC. This program should be implemented nationally in every BSN/MS nursing program.”

“As a result of this education activity I am able to explain evidence based information about vaccines to patients.”

“I participated in many web based continuing education activities; this is by far the best one. The information was extremely useful, the presenters were excellent, the technology was wonders and efficient, and the resources provided at the end are a wonderful plus.”

“As a result of this education activity, I plan to get the flu shot myself.”

“I am the Office Manager of Family Practice office. I participated in this webcast and made it mandatory that all clinical staff complete this in the upcoming week.”

“I enjoyed the CE program. It was the best CE program I have seen online. This program was very informative.”
